

ROSSER & McARTHUR,
Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

FAW, let us all when we begin
To speak of friend or foe,
Think of the harm one word may do
To those we little know.
Remember crows, sometimes like
Our chickens "roost at home!"
Don't speak of other fowls until
We have none of our own.

This weekly Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat, in its new form, is one of the nearest papers in the State. It has been greatly improved in every respect.

Mason E. M. Carter, who died at Ripley last week, was a prominent and useful citizen. He held the position of postal agent on the steamer Morning Mail and was a trustworthy and reliable official. His wife and three children who survive him will receive about $1,600 from the Masonic Mutual Benefit Association of this city and also the amount of a policy of insurance he had secured in another company.

The other day a citizen of Mayville sold his dwelling for $800, and at the same time another resident sold his house for $10,540. Curiously the Bulletin found out from the Assessor's books at what valuations these two pieces of property were taxed. The former was assessed at $800, the price it brought, and the latter for $5,000 or less than one-half of the price at which it was sold. Another citizen had a small cottage for which he paid $401, and which, we find, is assessed at $400. Another citizen paid $5,000 for certain property which is assessed for taxation at $1,750. These are instances of the inequality of taxation in this city, and go to show that the public burden bears heaviest on citizens of moderate means.

Mrs. Margaret McLaughlan.
Died in this city on Saturday morning January 19th, 1884, Mrs. Margaret McLaughlan, widow of Frank McLaughlan. She was the daughter of the late John and Margaret Rudy, who after passing lives of great piety and usefulness, died in this city many years ago. She was born in the city of Philadelphia, in September 1811, and was brought by her parents to this city when they settled here in 1813, and this has been her home. Her part in life was nobly performed. Devoted to her family, and constant, unflinching and faithful in the performance of all her duties as a daughter, sister, wife and mother, she was ever charitable and kind and full of good works for her friends and neighbors and she has left as her heritage to her children the sweet memory of a life devoted unselfishly and without ostentation to noble deeds. No true woman ever died in our midst. Her friends will never forget her. Her funeral is to take place at two o'clock p. m., on the residence on Short Street, the Rev. J. A. Henderson of the M. E. Church, Spith, officiating.

Mayville Hog in Texas.

ROBINSON, TEXAS, JANUARY 11, 1884.
Ed. Bulletin: I wish you would notify anyone in Mayville having had a hog to stray off (I am sure it must be a Mayville hog) to call, prove properly, pay damages and take his hog away soon, or he will be too late. Yesterday evening I took my saddle bags off, and set them near by on the ground until I could unsaddle my pony. When I turned to pick them up, they were affording a meal for (what I know must be) a Mayville hog; he had carried them off behind the stable, eaten a box of salts and an ounce of blue mass, and was hugely enjoying an desert a valuable case of surgical instruments. He had made a meal of them considerably and I had considerable trouble in getting them and a bottle of morphine from him, the latter, I suppose he wanted as a relish to top off with. Now, cut him in the shade at all for four days. The oat crop is badly damaged and in many places killed outright. X. Y. Z.

OLD TIME KENTUCKY GIRLS.

BY W. T. BROWN.

The branch that to my village dove
Slips softly, as it parts,
Of a thrilling life wherein there rose
Old time Kentucky girls.
Daughters of iron men that slept
Upon their blood-bought sod,
Of mothers brave that never went
Slave to the eye of God.
Their golden grain, for history's page,
Grew ripe in fruitful harvest,
Against the harvest of an age,
That glebe with glided dart.
Their fondest fears not to tell
The father of his land,
That oars of old-world policy
Were brittle ropes of sand.

Great in the chase and ambushed war,
Those mothers were their lambs,
To youth born 'neath a peaceful star,
And Empire's tempting flame.
Till, in the Forum's laureled hall,
These sons the rivals grew,
Orators by Roman Patricians
In causes grand and new.

Of those young branchings not to me,
But of their flying feet,
Whom in the fading past I see
Where forest haunts meet.
Beside their step in war or chase,
No proud Olympian tread,
Shall rove the ear of their race,
In living, or in dead.

Here, with the branch I live to build
Those mothers were their lambs,
Tree conopsea, and have the feast,
Of New Kentucky girls.
But never to embrace the springing dove,
Nor spatter in my whirrs,
The golden grain that I know so dear,
Old time Kentucky girls.

Mayville, Ky., January 17, 1884.

CONFLAGRATION.

Richeson's Grocery Store, Redmond's Cigar Store and Cullen's Barber Shop damaged by fire.

A few minutes after midnight, this morning, a fire that originated from a defective flue, broke out in the rear room of Wilson Richeson's grocery store, on Second street, and caused considerable damage. The fire plug from which the supply of water was obtained was frozen, and, for that reason, there was some delay in getting a stream on the flames, which burned fiercely and threatened the destruction of all the property adjoining. But, fortunately, the fire was gotten under control and a serious calamity averted. The room at the back of the grocery store and Cullen's barber shop were partly destroyed, together with a considerable quantity of stock in the former. Mr. Cullen was, fortunately, able to remove nearly all of his property but until it was much damaged by water. He thinks his loss will be about $100 with no insurance. Some fifteen or twenty thousand cigars and other property belonging to Mr. James Redmond were damaged by water and were not insured. Mr. Richeson's loss on stock and furniture is heavy but is fully covered by insurance, $1,000 of which is in the agency of Mr. John B. Poyntz, Jr., and $500 in that of David Wood & Son. The building belongs to the Mann heirs and was insured in companies represented by Mr. W. S. Fry. The other buildings belonged to the Cullen heirs and, unfortunately, were not insured. The loss falls heavily upon some very deserving people who can ill afford it. They have the sympathy of the community.

Mr. Geo. McDonald, agent for Sells Brothers circus, will arrive in this city in a few days to arrange for an exhibition here the coming season.

The Life of a Nutshell.

The father of the late Benjamin Fitch, the millionaire philanthropist of New York City, who died recently was a Quaker. Early in life the father wrote a letter to his son, these extracts from it deserve preservation as a specimen of a concise and complete guide to success in life:

First, keep yourself out of harm's way, be honest, and at all times speak the truth, be faithful and true worthy, letting your yea be yea, and your nay be nay. Don't be guilty, my dear son, of any mean or ungentleman-like thing or action.

But in all things and all places, and in whatever situation your lot is cast, be the man of honest yea, the honest gentleman. Farewell.

Physicians recommend Will's World Worm Candy because they know its contents are the best known remedies for worms and they rely on its effects. They prescribe it regularly for children who cannot take the usual nauseous compounds that have been used as vermifuges.

It is wise to provide against emergencies that are liable to arise in every family. A cold may be a dangerous thing or cold, depending upon the means at hand to combat it. In sudden attacks of cold, croup, asthma, etc., Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will prove the quickest and most effective cure, and your best friend.

Prices Reduced.

In order to decrease our stock of staple and fancy goods down close the profits. Our expenses less, therefore we can give panic prices. J. T. Kackley, successor to Morrison & Kackley, No. 27, East Second street, Mayville, Ky. Kackley, photographer, in same building. 191013t

George Andrews, overseer in the Lowell Carpet Corporation, was, for over twenty years before his removal to Lowell, afflicted with salt rheum in its worst form. Its ulcerations actually covered more than half the surface of his body and limbs. He was entirely cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. See certificate in Ayer's Almanac for 1883.

Of the many remedies before the public for nervous debility and weakness of nerve generative system, there is none equal to Allen's Brain Food, which promptly and permanently restores all lost vigor; it never fails. $1 a package or $5 at druggists or by mail from J. Involuntarily think, and exhale fragrance when opened. If this double chain were wanting, they would lack their main attraction and probably remain unloved. Sordidness will secure it. Discoloration of the teeth, unwholesomeness of the tongue, and a breath which causes repugnance, are completely remedied by this incomparable beautifier and antiseptic of the teeth, which is as pleasant to taste and smell as it is reliable in its action.

An Undoubted Blessing.

About thirty years ago a pronounced physician by the name of Dr. Willard Hall discovered, or produced after long experimental research, a remedy for diseases of the throat, chest and lungs, which was of such wonderful efficacy that it soon gained a wide reputation in this country. The name of the medicine is Dr. Willard Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and may be safely relied on as a speedy and positive cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, etc. cod&(3)

Healthy People Sometimes Laugh

At the sufferings of dyspeptics, and say that their pains and distresses are imaginary. This is not meant for cruelty, but it is cruelty, all the same. A person who has a crooked foot, or a wounded hand, or a sightless eye, could find sympathy by the exhibition of the defective member. If the dyspeptic sufferer's stomach could be placed on exhibition, the cause of his distress would be apparent.

The man with a troublesome stomach often suffers quite as much as the man with a broken leg, but is far less likely to receive sympathy. Sympathy is good for sufferers, as far as it goes. But Brown's Iron Bitters is better, for it strikes at the root of these troubles, and cures disease. Disappointed dyspeptics, weary of having tried many experiments in seeking cure, will do well to make one fair trial of Brown's Iron Bitters, and report the result. That this well-tried family medicine will thus diminish the quantity of human suffering is an established fact. 10
